BENTON TOWNSHIP — Lake Michigan College recently received a $10,500 donation for its Campaign for Tomorrow from Michigan Gas Utilities with support from the Wisconsin Public Service Foundation. The Campaign for Tomorrow is LMC's $7.5 million initiative to construct the college's new Hanson Technology Center, the Great Lakes Wine Institute, a Student Success

Center and other projects. The check was presented to the LMC Foundation Board of Directors by Michigan Gas Customer Relations Manager Gregg Griffin and Manager of External Affairs Nick Krzeminski. "We believe in community," Krzeminski said. "It's that simple. The Wisconsin Public Service Foundation, which supports Michigan Gas Utilities, knows that this gift to Lake Michigan College will support lifelong learning and education. It will pay dividends to our communities and their economies." Michigan Gas and Wisconsin Public Service award grants to nonprofit organizations within their operating area that are judged effective by the community and value cooperation and volunteerism, while increasing public awareness of important issues. The Lake Michigan College Campaign for Tomorrow supports an educated, vibrant and adaptive community by preparing the regional workforce for emerging careers, cultivating an environment for student success, and fostering community engagement.
